LITIGATION.

"Law, which has such a deuce of a claw." of the expense of litigation, and of the evils attending an effort to obtain the vantage ground in court when prompted by personal ill-feeling. "A deuce of a claw," indeed, bas "the law," which too many have ascertained to their sorrow and pecuniary ruin. Some time ago two master-mechanics of the city got into a dispute, and one of them brought suit before Justice Bell, who gave judgment for some $80 and costs. The defendant appealed to the higher court, where the judgment was affirmed, with the addition, of course, of a much larger bill of costs. Still unsatisfied, and unwilling, from bitter personal feeling, to own up conquered, the defendant's counsel moved for a new trial, upon ment, was granted by the court.

In the course of time the second trial was had, and the original decision of the justice was reaffrmed, with a lengthened bill of costs which had accrued since the first trial. Experience had inculcated an unimproved lesson to the defendant, who again appealed the case to the District court, where it still remains awaiting a decision by that tribunal. But the point illustrative of that "deuce of a claw" is this the defendant, against whom the original judgment of $80 was rendered, has already paid to lawyers and in court fees something over eight hundred dollars! - with a right smart prospect of being compelled to pay the sum originally in controversy.

Another instance of a similar character is on record in the Common Pleas. A dispute arose between two residents of Whitewater township, which resulted in a sucomons before a Justice, and a judgment for $1.50. The "deuce of a claw" had fastened upon one of the parties, and he appealed from the decision of the magistrate. The case came up for trial in the Common Pleas, and was postponed from term to term upon one motion and another by counsel, a long array of witnesses, upon both sides being in attendance upon each call of the case, and of course claiming their legal fee. Finally both parties got a good ready, and the strength of that "deuce of a claw." The result was, that the plaintiff again recovered a judgment for $1.50, the original amount claimed, and the defendant paid costs to the amount of a little over three hundred dollars.

These are but two illustrations of the strength of that "deuce of a claw." Others can be found in the experience of every man with the legal profession it is like Samson's bair-proper enough in its place, but still possessing a power of strength .- Cincinnati

A JOKE.

A correspondent sends the Buffalo Express the following good thing for the hot weather: -K., the Quaker President of a Pennsylvania Railroad, during the confusion and panic last fall, called upon the W---- with which the road had kept a large, regular account, and asked for an extension of a part of its paper falling due in a few days. The Bank President declined rather abruptly, saying in a tone common with that frater-

"Mr. K., your paper must be paid at maturity. We cannot renew it."
"Very well," our Quaker replied, and left here. On leaving the bank he walked quietly over to the depot and telegraphed all the panie, and bringing the news of distrust bank all along the line of the road. Stockholders and depositors flocked the trouble originated in the rejection of the bills by the railroad. The President seized of this County. A copy—Teste:

It is needless to say, Mr. I ____ renewed all the Quaker's paper and enlarged his line of discount, while the magic wires carried all along the road, to every agent the sedative message, "The W----bank is all right.
